Over September the Old Testament (OT) readings are drawn from Proverbs and Esther. They, as well as Psalms, are part of the third great collection of OT Scripture in Jewish Scholarship called 'The Writings'. The Writings explore in part how the community of faith may live a Godly faithful life in the everyday ordinariness of human life or even in crisis when the active presence of God or God's prophets seem far away, or the way of righteousness, less clear. Proverbs is a wisdom book, wisdom being seen as a product of faithful study of and reflection on Scripture, lived experience and the natural world. In the OT wisdom is one of the streams of revelation about God and ourselves and all creation. In the New Testament James too has that more pragmatic, daily living feel to it.

In today's Proverbs' reading we encounter what was clearly an issue in the ancient Hebrew communities of faith concerning partiality towards the rich against the poor. The reading argues that the character of a person is of more significance than their wealth (Prov 22:1); that God is the creator of all, rich and poor alike (Prov 22:2); that the community must live out justice and stand against injustice (Prov 22:8a,22-23); and that it must actively care for and be generous to those who are less well off (Prov 22:9). Centuries later, this same concern about positive discrimination towards the rich is picked up in James' letter to his faith community. He too is concerned with favouritism and distinction being shown to the rich which invites community divisiveness even within worshipping contexts (Jam 2:2-4). He reminds them that the poor must be honoured (Jam 2:6): there must be care for the poor who are also heirs of the Kingdom, who love God, and who may be rich in faith despite their poverty (Jam 2:5). He is especially scathing of those who think that pious platitudes are sufficient to deal with real need: "If a brother or a sister is naked and lacks daily food, and one of you says to them, 'Go in peace; keep warm and eat your fill.' and yet you do not supply their bodily needs, what is the good of that." (Jam 2:15-16). His discussion is couched within the faith and works dichotomy which for him, cannot be separated (Jam 2:18): faith without works is dead (Jam 2:17). James also links it to loving our neighbour as ourselves (Jam 2:8). He contends further that such partiality based on wealth is sinful (Jam 2:9).

The prophetic 'Word of the Lord' in these readings is confronting for we live in a culture that promotes conspicuous consumption and celebrity cults, equates success in life with wealth, pursues policies that are widening the gap between rich and poor, and that fails to adequately support the poor and other marginalised people materially or in the courts.

LOCKDOWN CHALLENGES

I was at my desk late last week when I received a call from a young lady. She introduced herself as U and began to explain the difficulties she was facing. I invited her to visit the St John's Care Centre that afternoon.

U is a single mother to two young boys, one of whom lived with a physical disability. During the lockdown, he had found things increasingly challenging. As learning transitioned from traditional face-to-face methods to online learning, the young boy was missed his friends and peers, and struggled with the lack of social interaction.

U's son required a special mouse and a webcam when using the family computer to complete his schoolwork, and they simply could not afford to buy one. Instead, he had been trying to use a regular mouse which was not working. U's son had felt left out after seeing his peers using their webcams and interacting with each other and not being able to participate. U was hesitant to ask the school for additional support as they had already been so supportive.

U explained that the family's electricity and internet usage had increased significantly since being confined to their home, and that she was extremely concerned about the upcoming bills they were due to receive.

"Being at home with two young boys and not being able to go outside so they can run around has been challenging. They're becoming increasingly frustrated being inside the house for most of the day, and we do not have a yard for them to play in.

We are regularly using our heater and have already passed our internet usage limit for the month. The boys are constantly eating, and we do not have enough healthy snacks to give them," she said.

U took a deep breath; her frustrations and concern were clear. She thanked me for listening and wiped the tears that were forming in her eyes.

I reassured U that SJC was here to support her and would continue to do so throughout the lockdown and beyond. I collected some groceries from our pantry, fresh fruit and vegetables, meat, dairy, and enough healthy school snacks to last the children for a few weeks. We purchased a webcam and a mouse suitable for U's son, and had those items delivered to her house.

We referred U to the St Vincent Home Energy Assessment Program. This program aims to support low-income households through visits to your home by an Energy Efficient Officer. Through the assessment, they can provide some free and simple solutions to increase the energy efficiency rating of the home to help decrease the family's energy bills. U has made a booking and is currently awaiting an assessment at her house.

I sat down with U as we contacted the ActewAGL hardship team who were able to apply a concession to her account and put her in credit for her next bill.

U was thrilled with support that SJC was able to give her and says she will never forget the look in her son's eyes when he was first able to see, talk and interact with his classmates online.

We would like to thank all the supporters, donors, and volunteers for helping us navigate through these challenging times with and for our clients.

Programs Coordinator

SCATTER THE FRAGRANCE

Send out fragrance like incense and put forth blossoms like a lily. Scatter the fragrance and sing a hymn of praise; bless the Lord for all his works. Ecclesiastes 39:14

I paused. I looked. I touched. I smelt. I marveled. There is something deeply spiritual about just wandering in the garden humming quietly the familiar hymn that just always comes to mind when we look at the awe of God – 'How Great Thou Art.' In my wandering I look at every flower in detail and I look at the creator. Such intricate work, such beautiful designs, such glorious colours, such joy and every flower filled with its own special fragrance that infuses my mind with memories.

Fanny Robinson wrote: This musing in a garden nook, each flower is as a written book, and rich the stores of Holy thought, that by these blossoms fair is brought.

Peace to those who are near and peace to those who are far off.

Anne, servant of the Lord

KEEP THE DATE FOR THE FETE - 6 NOVEMBER

We live in hope that the fete will be able to go ahead so preparations are on the way.

There is plenty of time on our hands at the moment to clean out those cupboards and sheds for the trash and treasure and book stalls and pot up all those plants so we can have a wonderful plant stall. If we are in the clear of covid 19 and can go ahead it will be a great time of getting together.

All enquiries

for the plant stall to Carol Kubanek 0405319556, for the book stall Gillian Painter 0447480503 and the T&T Sandra Ross. 0408438770

my contribution to our future

The COVID lockdown has disrupted many things. One thing it has not disrupted is our life together as God's people. Throughout July, our parish plan gave us a picture of what could happen over the next 3 years. We can't make it happen without your help, involvement or prayers. You'll find a response sheet at the back of the bulletin. It would be great to hear back from you by the end of September. Thanks to everyone who has replied. It's great to have you onboard!

Blessings, Wayne

finding our future

our parish plan

2021-2024

Everyone has their own reason for coming to church. For some it's about connecting with God or following their passions. For others, church is about healing or renewal. Some come out of obligation. Most are here because it's where we want to be.

Whatever your reason, we all reach up to God with open hands to have more faith, a deeper hope, and richer love. We reach in to build friendships that last through the storms. We reach out to a world that's hungry for love, looking for hope yet uncertain about faith. We work with others to build a better world. We find that we don't need to carry all that baggage by ourselves.

Holy Covenant is a place for everyone. We are community of friends who can help you to become all that God made you to be. We value inclusion, diversity, compassion, justice and freedom. We welcome all who want to discover, understand and participate in God's kingdom so that our neighbourhood will thrive.

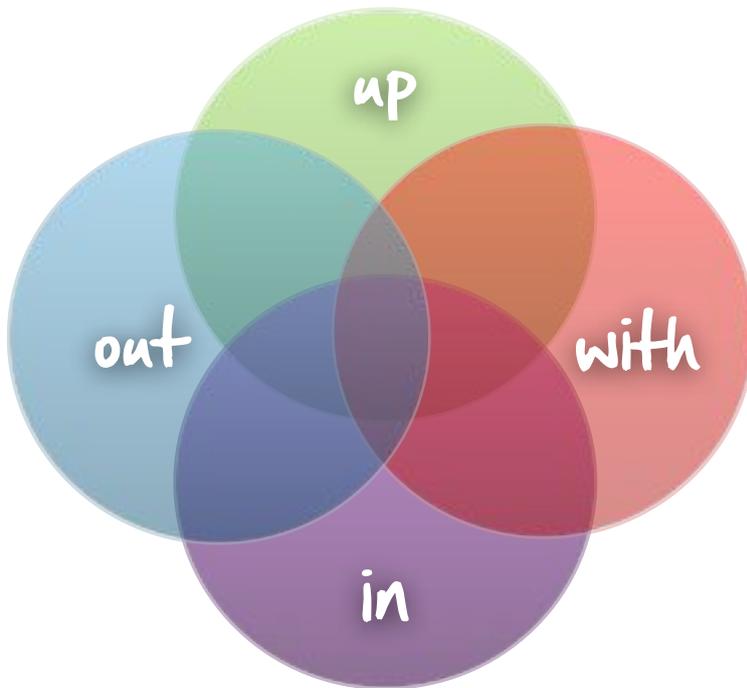

So as you think about God's call, you might want to pray about:

- the future that God wants you to discover
- the seeds that God has planted in you that are waiting to grow
- how might you make a difference by helping or getting involved
- how you can help us redeveloped the Rainbow Centre
- how can we help you to find the faith, hope and love that you are looking for?

We grow up into God by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sunday morning services (8 & 10am) • informal evening service (5pm) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Wednesday noon service • Colours of God (adults with disabilities) • worship at aged care • Meditation groups 	We nurture faith by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Kid's church (5-12yrs) • Youth group (13-18ys) • Youth Alpha (13+) • Fruitful Fridays (13+) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Exploring Faith Matters • Monastery of the Heart • Diving Deeper • small groups

Your generosity makes so many things happen. In 2021 you might wish to consider increasing your weekly giving by 10%.

Giving regularly through an automatic deduction (direct credit) means that the parish can better meet its monthly expenses. Offertories fall behind during the winter months when up to a third of parish members are away either on holiday or due to sporting commitments. Of course, our giving does not stretch like it used to. We encourage those using this method to review it each year.

Offertory envelopes are an important way for regular attenders, who might not feel comfortable with electronic options, to help our church to grow.

You can also make a legacy gift through making a bequest in your will. Gifts of between 1–5% from an estate can allow us to build a trust fund that could yield a regular income stream over time. Such gifts can enable our church to undertake larger projects that would otherwise be beyond our normal capacity to achieve.

A PRAYER FOR MY CHURCH

Good things grow through prayer. You might wish to pray the prayer below, or otherwise commit to praying regularly for our church.

*Generous God,
 you have given us so much.
 Everything we have comes from you.
 Through your goodness we have so much to share.
 May we who struggle for time make room in our diaries for your kingdom.
 May we who find change hard make room for new people who may look, sound and act differently.
 May we discover the wideness, deepness and breadth of your future as your disciple.
 May all our offerings be used for your glory and for the service of your kingdom.
 Amen.*
